HI! I'M MEGAN.

I love adventure & good fried cheese curds. But in all seriousness, I love creating content that inspires people to live life to the fullest and with a sense of humor. I have a BA in journalism, a background in photography and creative writing and have been working in digital marketing for over 6 years. I am a perpetual student always looking for new things to learn and passions to pursue. I'll try anything once (except for maybe scorpion on a stick) and am a big believer in the idea that some of the scariest things you can try are the best things you can do for yourself (aka 8 months of improv at Second City). I can't wait to collaborate with you!

ABOUT THE BLOG

Some Places I'm Moderately Excited About is a collection of snarky guides to locations around the world and Chicago with the purposes of allowing readers to make the most of their time traveling and encouraging exploration and wanderlust. My posts are transparent, light-hearted and humorous (at least I think so), full of off-the-beaten path spots, amazing places to stuff your face and totally-score-brownie-points-with-your-friends cool destinations.
